Stardrop is a popular story telling and management program that creates interactive environments for reading.

You can create bookmarks for your favorite pages and bookmark sites.

Stardrop allows you to convert text documents into interactive HTML, XML, or text documents. If you are a webmaster who wants to create a web site with your bookmarks, Stardrop can help you create HTML, XML, or other file types based on a selected Stardrop directory, or you can create them from other applications. We need to backup and restore to a new location any folder which has the same name as that of the folder we are in. If we want to backup the test1 folder in my current location, then we can use command. Convert backups to HTML5 from across the Internet, including Box.net, Google Drive, Dropbox, QuickBooks, Dropbox, and FTP. Standard ZIP, 7zip, or TAR archives. You don't need the cloud account to use this version, the backups will be converted to an XML document that you can display on your Web browser or to any device with an HTML5 compatible browser. This isn't the same as HTML5 Desktop (using the HTML5 Canvas element) due to the larger amount of code. Puzzlet converts crossword puzzles to HTML5 and various other formats. This version of Puzzlet features 'easy' mode, which allows you to drag and drop the puzzle into an open window. The 'easy' mode is much easier to use than the 'perma' mode. There is also a mode that will change the character set of the puzzle. In addition there are puzzles that use a set of secret clues. With these puzzles you must solve them on your own. GitHub is an open source hosting service where projects can store their source code online and shared with collaborators for change management. I recommend using GitHub for your project if you want to collaborate with other developers over the Internet. You can sign in with your GitHub account, if you have one, when you first start the application. AgoraWeb is a simple, lightweight HTML 5 Framework especially for building social networking sites. In fact it is not for building social networking sites but it is very flexible to build such services in the future. You could even use AgoraWeb itself as your social networking service.
