Directory Mate is a wizard based import/export tool for Windows Active Directory. Directory Mate provides corporations (administrators) the ability to quickly extract directory information as required. This information can then be modified and imported back into the directory to make changes as necessary. Imports can also be used to create users or groups, move them from OU to OU, delete the objects or just modify a few of their attributes. To simplify things, creation of header files provides an administrator the ability to keep the most popular attributes in a file handy for future use when exporting or importing directory information.

Directory Mate is a wizard based import/export tool for your Windows Active Directory. It allows you to: Export a list of users, all with links to their profile page and the details. Imports as well as exports CSV files to a text editor to make modifications as needed. Also allows for: Importing/exporting Group import/export Move users and groups between OUs Delete objects Move objects (including users, groups and computers) to other OUs. You'll also be able to browse your entire directory to find the correct OU to move the objects to. Features: File size is typically around 3MB (depending on the number of users and groups) which means that it can be sent via email with little worry about filling up the recipients mailbox. Excel compatible CSV format when exporting. Option to save the user/group/computer information in a file so that you can use it as a template. Fast. Even with a lot of users (10,000+) exported in less than 5 minutes. Includes maintenance of objects that have user-level security enabled. Exports/imports can be compressed when sending via email. Directory Mate is a discontinued product. There is no longer a version that supports Microsoft Active Directory version 15 nor version 16. Support is offered via the web community at: Price is listed per domain, not per license. Pro-level version includes the following: Extracting more detailed data including mailboxes, aliases and phone numbers. Support of the following attributes: Name Surname Given Name Department Department Name Office Location Company Name Mailing Address City State Country Postal Code When exporting to text you'll also be able to specify the attributes in tabular format. You can include: Mailboxes as Mailbox ID, such as the user's name plus a number appended to the end. User's aliases as an optional line, such as bob+123@contoso.com Users phone numbers as extension numbers. There are also other options for dealing with users and their details including exporting as comma-delimited text files, sending the information in a single email with some default options to make it easy to work with.
