Extremely difficult This is an extremely difficult puzzle. It will take a really long time to make progress on the puzzle. You will have to review many of the hints in this hint book and use the pictures and descriptions to figure out where you are getting stuck. Try to attack the puzzle from one direction at a time. For example, it may be easier to start with white tiles, then work on a black tile, then go to a white tile and finally a black tile. As you attack the puzzle from one direction, try to consider the others. For example, if you were working on white tiles and you have a black tile in front of you that you think will be very helpful, then consider the color of the tile you were just working on. Which tiles will be helpful to work on next? What is one more white tile going to help you accomplish? How about the next tile to the left, or the leftmost black tile? Can you see that each of these tiles is
