"Expanding on the functionality of Apache Cassandra, Aeris brings a highly scalable, distributed database to the masses. Couple Aeris with the flexibility of the Aeris Scripting Language, and you have a complete operational analytics solution." Home Page: [Plasma H₂O₂ concentration and oxygen transport in normal and leukopenic rats]. Plasma H₂O₂ level and oxygen transport (O₂T) were measured in normal and leukopenic rats. The following results were obtained: 1. A circadian rhythm of plasma H₂O₂ level is observed in normal rats. 2. Treatment of the normal rats with phenylhydrazine (PHZ) results in a greater increment of plasma H₂O₂ level during the night than during the day. 3. The leukopenic rats have higher level of plasma H₂O₂ than normal rats. After treatment of the leukopenic rats with PHZ, the night-time increment of plasma H₂O₂ is not enhanced, compared with that in normal rats. The night-time increment of O₂T in the leukopenic rats is less than that in normal rats. 4. The ex vivo O₂T in the liver of the leukopenic rats is less than that in normal rats. ELIZABETH, NJ – The Patriots are looking for someone to replace Chris Hanson. The former wide receiver has passed through the streets of North Jersey on his bike and made a documentary about it. Now, there's a great opportunity for the right person to come on board. On Tuesday, right before the team's workout at St. Peter's College, Hanson was introduced to the media. "Oh my gosh, my dream has come true," he said. "I've been trying to get on the team since I was a kid. Now it's a reality." Hanson added that he's had practice sessions with head coach Bill Belichick and other coaches, and he's ready for his first game on the New England sidelines. "It's been incredible," he said. "It's been a lot of fun. I'm really excited." Hanson said he's been working with the team since they drafted him in 2014, and he

What's New in the Aeris Calendar?

Calendar software that helps you set reminders, and track tasks. The goal of this project is to write a simple calendar, a workspace and a todo list application. But it will not be a simple calendar; we will introduce all the features that make our calendar unique. This project will be built with Delphi XE6 (2 years), but it is not to much of a problem if you use other Delphi versions. We will develop:

1. A simple calendar.
2. A workspace, which will be used as a shortcut for the calendar (like a desktop icon), allowing the user to have access to the calendar directly.
3. A tray icon, used to launch the application.
4. A custom icon.
5. A desktop icon, used to launch the workspace shortcut.
6. A desktop icon, used to launch the calendar (and also the workspace).
7. A task list, used to manage the user's tasks.
8. Reminders.
9. Tasks.
- 10.

Notes. Note: After a small calculation, we will be able to decide the cost of this project. This project is a very basic one and the cost is almost 0$. Advantages:

- It is possible to set reminders and tasks
- It is possible to have the option to not open the application automatically when a new appointment is saved (it can be set on the preferences)
- The workspace shortcuts can be synchronized between the different computers (it can be set on the preferences).
- The calendar is integrated with the workspace shortcuts.
- The tray icon can be set to show the workspace, the calendar, or both.
- The tray icon is compatible with other applications.
- The calendar works like a desktop icon (it can be set on the preferences).
