See inner exception for details I'm facing with a problem since several days and I don't know what it is. I have a website in IIS 7 and I've been using the self-signed certificate that is located in the Trusted Root Certification Authorities (the issuer of the certificate is my company). I've used a wildcard certificate for this purpose: In the Certificate Access Panel I've exported the certificate in.PFX and then imported it in the Trusted Root Certification Authorities with the following options: After that I've exported the certificate again to.PFX and import it again to the Trusted Root Certification Authorities. As far as I know, everything is correct. The certificate is trusted by IE, Firefox and Google Chrome. Here the certificate is valid: When I'm trying to browse to the website with the certificate, I'm having this error: The server's certificate is invalid. See inner exception for details
