503 S.E.2d 806 (1998) 232 Ga. App. 376 HILL v. The STATE. No. A98A0156. Court of Appeals of Georgia. June 18, 1998. Charles A. Chastain, Buford, for appellant. Daniel J. Porter, District Attorney, Charles C. West, Assistant District Attorney, for appellee. SMITH, Judge. Following a bench trial, the trial court convicted Delmar Hill of simple battery on a custodian. On appeal, he contends the evidence was insufficient to support his conviction. Finding that the evidence was sufficient, we affirm. "On appeal from a criminal conviction, the evidence must be viewed in the light most favorable to support the verdict, and the appellant no longer enjoys a presumption of innocence." (Citations omitted.) Jackson v. State, 224 Ga.App. 151, 153(1), 480 S.E.2d 270 (1997). We do not weigh the evidence or determine witness credibility, but only determine if the evidence was sufficient to support the conviction. Id. In the case at bar, the trial court heard the evidence and observed the witnesses. Upon arriving at the scene, he was told by the principal and Hill's co-worker that Hill was the person responsible for causing the fight. Officer Brown asked Hill to return to the office, and when he arrived, there was a small area of broken glass just outside the door. Hill was calm and cooperative; he was also crying and shaking. Officer Brown asked Hill how he got the glass and Hill told him. When Officer Brown asked Hill if he was going to do anything else, Hill became irate.

Swedish activist Greta Thunberg said today she was sorry but no longer believed in the United Nations climate change body. Ms Thunberg was speaking on the floor of the UN assembly, where she was given the award of international cooperation with the UN General Assembly as laureate of the 2019 climate change education award. She thanked the organisation for “giving us the chance to speak to the world” before saying the controversial organisation could not make its promises “more real”. “I am sorry for not being able to continue to fight for a better future. I have decided to stop fighting, I will no longer waste my time,” she said. “I will not give you my time or my money. You are not my enemy. “We are not separate from nature. Nature cannot be seen as something that exists apart from us and without us,” she added. Ms Thunberg, 16, has faced criticism for scolding world leaders during a speech in New York last month. The European climate strike protest leader claimed she had “gone vegan” to try and save the planet and used the coming UN climate change conference in November to try and warn world leaders of the threat of climate change.
