Annie is a young student and her teacher for the art class is the evil Professor Gandal. He needs her to steal a painting from the gallery in order to get his daughter Professor Gandal's daughter Katherine, a famous singer. This plan is without a doubt a dangerous plan. This is a comedy with a twist of weird and gross! So if you like zombie movies, disturbing games and people with unhygienic habits watch this awesome game and play it! About The Game Joel: Look after a huge, clumsy and hairy and the people complain the bear is too loud! Thats Joel the bear, my friend. I love Joel, he is so creative! But its also about food, and getting the right amount of food to grow in Joel. Funny Animal and Joel share the same space and it makes me laugh! This is fun. About The Game A House Full Of Spiders: A group of kids, when searching for money on their new place of living, stumble upon a really big spider that doesn't want to let them go. How can they get away? The game's funny! I should make more of these. This was my final work in the AdvanceAnimation class in college. Looking back I don't really like it. I think the fact that I actually bought the VOCALOID instead of doing a simple lip sync made the character come off a bit...full of itself. published:13 Aug 2011 views:216 This video was made for the AdvanceAnimation class in college. I used an old version of After Effects and couldn't find a way to get 3D projection to work with animations. I find the end result to be kinda distracting so I changed the entire edit. Instead of using 3D projections I instead changed the style to look like a traditional stop motion video. published:13 Aug 2011 views:597 Like this if you've enjoyed the "Arctic Blast" ones! It's a "Japanese" thing. published:05 Feb 2018 views:4 Listen to song "JIN-LEE" from the album "SKY" Produced by Kenny Laforest

What's new in Annie And The Art Gallery:

- there were plenty of tickets left for my Mum and Grandad for this as it was being held in a gallery so it is most definitely worth doing more and more family get togethers have been thrown into this festive season. The Sherwood Forest - I saw more of this in the Sainsbury's Christmas gift catalogue. Nutcracker - we saw this last year and loved it. It is funny how it is taken for granted that parents will take their kids to see this as they are considered child stuff. I don't think this is in the same league as let's say Star Wars or Ninjago, but I am glad of the chance to catch the shows and this time we had a great evening out. Many of the bits were repeated between the ballet and this, but they rehearse every year so it is not too much of a problem. I would still heartily recommend the ballet as it is so full of movement and the music is fantastic. I also found the costumes to be so stunning! The Nutcracker soundtrack is amazing, as is the talent of the cast! Halloween - I actually saw this first as a present! The cinema was half full which for a school halloween night was great. The zombies were pretty clever and actually good fun. Then I watched some of the original trilogy to see what I had missed. I loved them and am more than ready to keep watching them as this new trilogy just ramps it up to another level! I plan to watch them all on DVD when I have the time (sic!) they are that good. Doctor Who - a lottery win once again. We were actually sat at the start of this for the first time and had our half price ticket (it was £25) which was a great way to start the weekend. This was the second series of the new series and I thought it was brilliant. Like the new X Files, but I just loved it. I actually think the episodes at the beginning were better than the final ones. To be honest, I don't think I could sit through the new series without a full episode being on while I am trying to do anything else. Graceland - I'm so glad we went here as it was great to see it, but I did watch a documentary while in America. I really enjoyed it, but found it a bit Disney like in being just the rich kids which is a shame as I thought it
