

The better you are at using the motion capture data, the more you can influence the outcome of the game. By replicating the movements of the players in a fashion unseen in previous football games, FIFA now feels more authentic than ever. Your players' improvisation after every tackle, their ability to react instinctively after the ball is lost or gained possession are all now determined by the movement details provided by the motions of the 22 players. That means that the decisions you make during gameplay will now have a very real impact on how the game plays out. New - New Persistent Skills Using Hypermotion Technology: Player Instinct: During a match, your players learn on the run through trial and error when using a new skill. Managing the flow of gameplay: As players are forced to make decisions as the action unfolds, your team can create tactical options by anticipating what kind of action is possible, and making decisions accordingly. For example, while running down an open goal, you can use a skill as a header to create a scoring chance or choose to shoot to create an attack. New Fitness System: Each time the players become fatigued, they'll need to perform a stamina task before being able to play the next game. This ensures that after hours of training, the tactics in a game will remain as sharp as they are after a day of training. New Player Traits: Gifted: Players with this trait are able to pick passes and control the ball by playing quicker and more instinctively than other players. Forward-thinking: Players with this trait are more creative with their positioning on the pitch. They’re constantly making and re-making opportunities for their teammates. New Features - Unique Gameplay: The Matchday Experience: Winning and losing a match has never been this dramatic before. New Gameplay Elements: Improved Hybrid Tweaker: The updated Tweaker on the pitch will make it easier for players to be on the move or move to their preferred attacking position, and for more players to gain possession. All-New Tactical AI: The AI controlling your team has been completely re-engineered and will become even more intelligent as it gains experience playing matches. Your players will now make decisions based on a dynamic situation that is constantly changing in a match. WALKTHROUGH Loading... Building a football club – a great idea?
