Reviews: Overall: 2 Impact: 2 Intangibility: 2 Buyer Beware 9/10/2012 Could of been great but... Seems like you get sent to war for the first couple of missions then you end up in a turret, does anyone else feel like this is just a waste of time for when the main focus is on blowing stuff up?

D'awww it's not like you're going to go to war with these guys. Good guns and feels like combat sim Overall: 8

Impact: 5 Intangibility: 5 The Peacekeepers won't leave me alone! 10/16/2012 I love this game. It really feels like combat sim and war sim combined. You start with only your handgun, and you have no idea what you're getting into. You have to gain some points to unlock the weapons, and then you have to have fun figuring out what works best for you, and what's fun. I spent all day last Saturday playing it with a friend. Between missions I was really looking forward to getting a weapon upgrade. After a while

I was playing out of my comfort zone, not having too many success at first. But then it all happened. I started being more aggressive with my aiming and teamwork, we started winning our first firefights, and eventually we had a completely new set of weapons at our disposal. Worth the money. Overall: 8 Impact: 4 Intangibility: 5 This is the best game i have purchased since i played online battlefield 2 and i only played that game for like 2 weeks.... This is much better. The gameplay is fun, some people just suck at it while others are really good, it takes time to get good at, I suck and only recently was able to beat a level with perfect teamwork and having a fully upgraded rifle. Ehhh Overall: 2 Impact: 2 Intangibility: 2 The combat is one of the best in the game genre, but it's the vehicles that suck.

I was a veteran who played as a combat soldier in Call of Duty 3, then a sniper in Call of Duty 4, and finally played as a support soldier in Modern Warfare 2. However, I
