Q: Visual C#, Using Generic types in different classes I am trying to get my head around the following scenario (the question comes from the book): Let's look at what we want to do. We have a few generic classes, such as Point, Vector3, and Quaternion, which all provide a way to store values of the same kind, and have a common interface. We have a class, called Transform, which needs to store the values of one of these generic types. How do we do this? I am trying to understand how to solve this, while keeping generics in mind. class Vector2 { private double _x; private double _y; public double X { get { return _x; } set { _x = value; } } public double Y { get { return _y; } set { _y = value; } } } class Matrix2 { private double[,] _m; public double this[int, int] { get { return _m[i, j]; } set { _m[i, j] = value; } } } class
