Need OEM solution?Â. to the deposition of a non-conductive layer into a recess in the substrate, a conductive layer is subsequently deposited into the recess. The conductive layer in turn is patterned to yield a plurality of spaced-apart, conductive tracks which are electrically connected to each other by conductive vias formed in the non-conductive layer. A semiconductor device is fabricated on the substrate having a pre-patterned conductive track structure. In accordance with another aspect, the present invention provides a method of making an electrical connection between first and second substrates. A layer of insulating material is deposited into the recess. A conductive layer is patterned to form a plurality of spaced-apart conductive layer is subsequently deposited into the recess. The conductive layer is patterned to form an plurality of spaced-apart conductive layer is substrate is bonded to a second substrate by using a thermoset bonding material. The bonded substrates is pointing material. The bonded substrates is pointing a laigned with the vias. The second substrate is bonded to a third substrate by using a thermoset bonding material. The bonded substrates are then cured. An electrical connection is then established between the conductive lines. After the electrical connection is established, each conductive line is electrically isolated. The plurality of spaced-apart conductive lines and vias are connected through the first and second substrates to form an electrical connection between the first and second substrates. In accordance with another aspect, the present invention provides a method of making an electrical connection between first and second substrates. The first substrate has a first recess formed in a surface thereof. A second recess is formed in the surface of the first substrate which is adjacent to the first recess.
