The title is currently in development, and we will be sharing more detailed information on it as we get closer to its release. Mike Brehm Michael "Mike" Brehm (born March 17, 1956) is an American hockey coach, former player and former National Hockey League (NHL) head coach for the Anaheim Ducks. Brehm was fired by Anaheim on December 27, 2019, after the Ducks missed the playoffs for the first time in the decade. He is the winningest coach in Washington Capitals history, with the highest winning percentage of any coach since the divisional era began in 1974–75. Playing career Brehm played minor hockey in Washington, D.C. He later played four seasons of hockey at St. Lawrence University in Canton, New York, in the NCAA. He was drafted in the third round, 51st overall, by the Pittsburgh Penguins in the 1974 NHL Amateur Draft. Coaching career Brehm was named head coach of the Capitals in 1985. In seven seasons, he compiled a 128–82–21 record as Capitals head coach. Brehm returned for a second stint as head coach in the 2000–01 NHL season, guiding the Capitals to a 51–21–8–4 record, good for fifth place in the Eastern Conference. After the Capitals failed to make the playoffs, however, Brehm was fired by Washington on November 21, 2001. After his second stint with the Capitals, Brehm spent five seasons as the coach of the Capitals' AHL affiliate, the Hershey Bears. In 2004–05, he led the Bears to their first Calder Cup Championship. The Bears were the first team from the Southeast Division to win the Calder Cup since the Carolina Hurricanes in 1994. On June 17, 2010, Brehm agreed to become the first head coach and general manager of the Grand Rapids Griffins for the 2010–11 season. In the 2015–16 season, Brehm led the Washington Capitals to the 2016–17 Stanley Cup Finals, the team's first appearance in the Stanley Cup Finals in his tenure with the Capitals. The Capitals, who had qualified in the Eastern Conference, defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs four games to three to advance to the Stanley Cup Finals. The Capitals swept the Pittsburgh Penguins four games to one to win the Stanley Cup. This marked Brehm's first Stanley Cup championship as a coach, his first as a head coach, and was the Capitals first Stanley Cup championship since a four game sweep of the Detroit

▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲ Hi everyone, Hey everyone, I'm Hiroshi Kondoh, with Stratus, and we are hard at work on the new Dungeon Dragoon game. I feel like I've been a bit remiss with the news recently, so I wanted to share a quick look at the hard to find game with you. I'm not allowed to give any more information than what you can see in the video, so I'll just let the video speak for itself. Let's give this a shot.

▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲▲ Finally! The game that I've been waiting for is here. I've been waiting for this game for almost half a decade, almost as long as Final Fantasy XV has been a thing. Here we have what is basically Dark Souls with a Final Fantasy twist. We're even seeing things like save points and monster titling, so it really feels like a new experience. And not just that, but the graphics are pretty impressive as well. The environments are full of life. The NPCs feel like real people. There are multiple things you can say to people, and you can even choose when to attack by pressing one button. These are all character choices. That's right, this isn't the action RPG we're used to. This is the RPG we're used to. And not only that, but the combat is fluid and free-form. While there are basic attacks, special attacks, and the limit of the amount of stamina, it's all up to the player. And while some people might think that might be a bad thing, it really isn't. Because of how free it is. That's right, if you want to be an asshole, you can just beat them to a pulp and they won't do a thing. Or you could be a gentleman. Or a magical girl. The choices are all yours. And you can save everywhere. Or not. It's really up to you. That's right, this game is probably the most free-form RPG I've ever seen. Not even Dragon Quest bff6bb2d33

So here it is Apple fans: the next-generation iPad is definitely real.

Addressing the most fundamental questions: yes, there will be new hardware added to Apple's tablet family, and the new devices will be physically thinner and smaller than current models. The new iPad will definitely have A5X CPU, support for LTE and double the RAM compared to the current iPad 2, and come in two sizes: a 4.7-inch version with an 8-megapixel camera and a 9.7-inch version with a 5-megapixel rear-facing camera.

No word yet on pricing, of course, but Apple has often taken a similar tactic with the iPad. The iPad mini has smaller screens, while the iPad 3G came with a new dual-core CPU and the iPad 2 came with a quad-core CPU.
