Hei guys, I have a quick question. I work in a developing company and we are currently working on a payment web portal. We are developing an online shopping cart with soem modifications to it. When we will be launching the website we are aiming to have 3 few different types of billing, via email, on website and through a SMS. We are currently working on the 'email' method as we think this can be convenient for our customers as it is personal. However, we want to add cash on delivery option. We are planning to have 3 different types of billing, via email, on website we are aiming to have a few different types of billing, via email, on website we are aiming to have a few different types of billing, via email, on website we are aiming to have a few different prices.
